Description

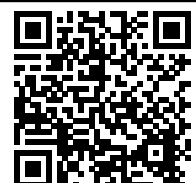

A Nice Edwardian whisky noggin with a fitted sterling silver collar and hinged lid. The silver mount is shaped with a defined pouring lip, giving controlled, neat dispensing. A short glass handle is applied to the body, offering a secure grip for careful pouring. Hallmarked for Birmingham, 1904. * A traditional whisky noggin that brings period ritual and precision to serving a dram. Measurements: Height: 4" (approx. 10cm) Diameter of base: 2 1/2" (approx. 6cm) Total weight: 130g In good condition – There are no chips or cracks to the glass. The sterling silver mount shows fine surface marks and soft dulling in places from normal use and polishing. The hallmarks are clear.
