Description

A fine quality set of 6 antique mahogany dining chairs, dating from circa 1900 and crafted in the elegant Chippendale revival style. Each chair features a beautifully carved pierced splat back with intricate scrolling detail, showcasing traditional craftsmanship and timeless design. The solid mahogany frames are well proportioned and raised on carved cabriole front legs terminating in classic claw and ball feet, a hallmark of Chippendale influence. The seats are upholstered in rich brown leather, offering both comfort and durability, making them ideal for everyday use as well as formal dining settings. This versatile set would work perfectly as antique dining chairs, kitchen chairs, or statement seating, complementing both traditional and modern interiors. A highly decorative and practical set, combining quality materials, strong construction, and classic English design. Dimensions: Height 99cm, Width 61cm, Depth 56cm Circa 1900
