Description

Here we have a pair of early 20th century brass table lamps designed in the form of traditional candlesticks. Each stands on a stepped circular base with a simple column stem and retains a drip tray detail beneath the lamp holder, referencing classic candle forms. The brass has developed a rich, aged patina over time, with subtle tonal variation across the surface. The design is clean and understated, making the pair easy to place in both traditional and more contemporary interiors. A well-matched pair with a timeless look, ideal for bedside tables, consoles or sideboards.
