Description

Here we have a large late Victorian mahogany shop display cabinet with a full glass front and elegant bow ends. The cabinet is fitted with multiple glass shelves, all adjustable, and retains its original brass handles and fittings. The curved end sections give the piece a softer, more refined look, while the deep moulded cornice and plinth base add to its overall presence. The interior is bright and open, making it ideal for displaying a wide range of items. The mahogany has developed a rich, warm tone over time, with signs of age and use that add to its character without detracting from its overall appearance. A highly practical and decorative piece, perfect for retail, interiors, or display purposes.
