Description

Description A excellent pair of 19th century moulded glass tumblers dating to c1850. They have a tapered form with a deep bowl on a solid octagonal base. Really nice examples and nice to find a pair which are best used for Scottish whisky. Although a matching pair in form, they are handmade, and therefore have slightly different proportions and weights. Date & Origin England, c1850. Period of Queen Victoria. Condition Excellent. No chips, cracks, or restoration. Dimensions Height: 9.5 cm. Rim diameter: 8.8 cm. Base diameter: 7 cm. Weight: 391 grams and 318 grams.
