Description

A refined Edwardian inlaid mahogany corner display cabinet circa 1910. The upper section features a glazed door with astragal moulding, enclosing shaped shelves ideal for displaying decorative objects. The interior is enhanced by a striking back panel, adding depth and visual interest. Bought from a private house sale in London's Shoreditch. The cabinet is beautifully adorned with delicate satinwood inlay, including trailing foliage and classical urn motifs to the sides and lower door, all executed with fine precision. The base section provides useful concealed storage behind a panelled door, maintaining the clean symmetry of the design. The whole stands on a shaped plinth base, complementing the gently curved front. Graceful in proportion and decorative in detail, this Edwardian corner cabinet is both practical and highly attractive, perfect for making use of corner space while showcasing treasured pieces. Offered in great shape. Will ship to anywhere in the world - including the US - please get in touch for a shipping quote. Dimensions are in inches (CM): Width x Depth x Height 30" (76 cm) x 28" (71 cm) x 86" (218 cm).
