Description

A beautiful antique satinwood painted demi-lune commode / side cabinet, dating to circa 1900 and crafted in the elegant Sheraton Revival style. This finely made half-moon cabinet is veneered in satinwood, renowned for its rich golden tone and smooth lustrous finish. The piece is exquisitely hand-painted with delicate floral swags and classical motifs, centred with decorative oval panels depicting romantic scenes, showcasing exceptional craftsmanship and attention to detail. The demi-lune form makes it an ideal antique side cabinet or commode for hallways, living rooms, or refined interiors, offering both decorative impact and practical storage. Raised on slender tapering legs, the cabinet reflects the timeless proportions and refinement associated with Sheraton-style furniture, making it highly desirable among collectors and interior designers. A standout piece of antique English furniture, perfect for adding elegance and character to both traditional and contemporary spaces.
