Description

Grand William IV Pull Out Pedestal Dining Table. A fantastic and very rare pull out Mahogany pedestal table. This is an exceptionally fine William IV Mahogany extending 1 leaf dining table, circa 1830-1835. While the market frequently offers fixed-top round tables from this period, a single-pedestal piece featuring a sophisticated pull-out extending mechanism is a remarkably rare find. It represents a superb marriage of early 19th-century engineering and aesthetic restraint, allowing for a substantial dining surface without the visual clutter of additional supporting legs. The table retains its original glazed lightly faded french polished finish which possesses a deep, honeyed colour and a richly figured grain which has acquired a wonderful patina over nearly two centuries. We have sympathetically restored, thoroughly checked, cleaned, and waxed this table in our workshop, ensuring it is in true home-ready condition. It retains all the character and "honest" charm one expects from a genuine period survivor, while being structurally beyond reproach. The table is entirely solid, with no loose joints or wobbles, remaining perfectly stable during use and is free from any ...
