Description

Antique 20th century sideboard in burr walnut, a very well-made and good-quality piece. The sideboard features five drawers in total, with three centrally positioned in ascending size and two smaller drawers, one on either side, offering practical and well-organised storage. There are two cupboards, one at each end. The left cupboard contains a single shelf, while the right cupboard includes a shelf and integrated bottle storage, making it both functional and versatile. The piece retains all its original metal handles and comes with a key. It stands on elegant cabriole legs and is finished with a raised gallery to the top. The burr walnut displays gorgeous grain and beautiful figuring throughout, adding to its visual appeal. A very nice and desirable example in good condition, this sideboard is a perfect addition to any home, combining style, craftsmanship, and practicality.
