Description

Hutton-Clarke antiques is pleased to offer a fine early 19th century Regency rosewood centre table of elegant proportions, featuring a beautifully figured circular top with decorative brass inlay forming a refined border and classical motifs. The rich rosewood veneers display wonderful depth of colour and grain, complemented by a clean Regency design. The circular top tilts and lifts off the base, making it practical for transport and easy movement, while the sturdy tripod base with turned central column provides excellent stability and visual balance. A striking and functional piece, ideal as a centre table, hall table, or statement piece in a period or contemporary interior.
