Description

A Royal Worcester Dish modelled as a large scallop shell. The porcelain is finished in a warm blush ivory tone with softly shaded colour that pools in the moulding. The rim is gently undulating and picked out with fine gilt, giving the piece a lifted, elegant outline. Hand-painted floral sprays in pinks, blues, and greens are placed within the shell's interior for a light, refined effect. A small shell-like knop and sculptural shell feet create a raised display form rather than a flat serving plate. Marked for Royal Worcester, dated 1900. * The shell form gives this piece a naturally theatrical presence even before you notice the painting. Measurements: Height: 4" (approx. 10cm) Width: 8" (approx. 20cm) Depth: 7 1/2" (approx. 19cm) Total weight: 370g In good condition – The dish presents well overall with only light signs of age and handling consistent with a decorative porcelain piece. There are no chips or cracks to the porcelain.
