Description

A fine quality Regency mahogany three pillar extending dining table of impressive scale and elegant proportion. The top is beautifully figured with a rich warm tone showcasing the natural character of the mahogany and a well balanced rectangular form. Raised on three substantial pedestal bases the table offers both strength and refinement, each pillar terminating in a classic tripod base with splayed legs and original brass capped castors providing excellent stability when fully extended. The table extends to accommodate additional leaves making it ideal for both everyday dining and larger gatherings. In the Regency period such tables were central to formal dining rooms used for entertaining guests and hosting dinners where flexibility in size was essential. Condition Report: In very good antique condition with light age related wear. The polish is in good order with a rich patina. Minor surface marks consistent with age. Structurally sound and ready for use. Dimensions: Height: 75.5 cm (29.72 in) Width: 118.5 cm (46.65 in) Length: 356 cm (140.16 in) Length without leaves: 251.5 cm (99.02 in) Date: 1830 Origin: English
