Description

A 19th century French console table with a breccia violetta marble top. The base richly carved and gilded, with fluted legs and a beautifully detailed frieze, all supporting a striking slab of breccia marble with deep violet tones and dramatic veining. An old Paris maker's label remains to the frame. Hobo loves because: the detail in the carving is next level - every circle is actually a flower, and once you see it you can't unsee it.
