Description

A handsome two-part gun cabinet dating to the 19th century, sourced from a Georgian country house in Kinross-shire. Left in its original condition, it could easily be adapted into a bookcase by adding shelves, though we've chosen not to alter it. The cabinet shows wear consistent with age and use, this includes knocks and scratches. The most notable is a damaged corner at the top of the base, which could be repaired or left as-is. Please get in touch if you would like work doing to the piece we are happy to chat through any options.
