Description

A stunning antique French Vernis Martin vitrine display cabinet, dating to the 19th century and richly decorated with hand-painted panels in the classical pastoral taste. This elegant glass display cabinet features finely cast ormolu mounts throughout, including foliate mounts, escutcheons, and a pierced brass gallery to the top. The glazed door opens to reveal a velvet-lined interior with glass shelves, ideal for displaying fine objects, porcelain, or decorative pieces. The lower panel is beautifully hand-painted in the Vernis Martin style, depicting a romantic pastoral scene, adding exceptional character and visual appeal. Raised on slender cabriole legs terminating in ormolu mounts, this is a refined example of French antique furniture, perfect for both traditional and contemporary interiors. A highly decorative and functional antique display cabinet / vitrine, increasingly sought after by collectors and interior designers. Height: 155cm Width: 63cm Depth: 38cm
