Description

One of Doyly Johns better works and of a good impressive size as well. The original canvas has also been inscribed on the back by Cecil Rochfort D'Oyly-John (British, 1906-1993). The inscription on the back is the artist's hand and describes the specific location of the painting that was executed by Doyly John, being Villefranche near Nice South of France. The light and colours are fabulous and compared to some of his other works, this piece is certainly one of his better ones. Measurements of canvas only Width: 65.9cm Height: 45.7cm
