Description

This superb, large and highly decorative pair of 19th century Mansion House dwarves is in the style of early Derby examples reproduced by the famous French Paris factory Samson, who was known for faking and imitating well-known high end factories and wears now well sought after in their own right by collectors. These very fine figures are in excellent original condition with no restoration, each beautifully modelled, hand painted in rich bright colours, and highlighted with fine hand gilt detailing. A most pleasing and eye catching pair of French 19th century porcelain figures which are approximately 130 years old. Circa 1895. Each figure bears a fake red Derby factory mark on its underside. Height 17cm x width 9cm x depth 10cm
