Description

Haynes King British, (1831-1904) The Daily News Oil on panel, signed & dated 1871 Image size: 20.5 inches x 16.5 inches Size including frame: 27.5 inches x 23.5 inches Provenance: William Rivett (Gainsborough Gallery) Ltd, 9 Blomfield Street, Liverpool Street, London EC2 A wonderful portrait of an elderly woman reading a newspaper by Haynes King. The woman is pictured sat in an armchair by the side of a fire. She is posed wearing glasses with a white cap on her head and a red shawl around her shoulders. To the left, a sewing basket and knitting can be seen on top of a small table covered in a green patterned cloth. The artist's placement of the figure in a humble interior serves to emphasise the woman's intellectual refinement. Haynes King was a genre painter who was born in Bridgetown, Barbados in 1831. At the age of 23 he came to England where he studied at Leigh's Academy and became a notable genre figure painter. He started exhibiting at the Royal Society of British Artists from 1857 and became a member in 1864. He also exhibited regularly at the Royal Academy, British Institute, New Watercolour Society, Walker Art Gallery, Liverpool, Royal Institute of Oil Painter...
