Description

A beautiful and elegant vintage oak writing bureau secretaire, featuring a classic drop front desk and a refined, compact design. The bureau opens to reveal a charming interior fitted with multiple pigeonholes and compartments, perfect for organising letters, documents, or stationery. The writing surface is lined with a decorative red leatherette insert, adding both contrast and traditional character. The upper section is enhanced with a subtle carved detail, while the slender proportions make this an ideal piece for smaller interiors, hallways, or bedrooms. This is a highly versatile piece, working equally well as a writing desk, decorative cabinet, or statement occasional furniture. The bureau is in very good vintage condition, with light, age related wear consistent with use. Structurally solid and fully functional. Interior clean and complete, with minor wear to the writing surface as expected.
