Description

Danish silver necklace. 1950s. By Hermann Siersbol, who opened his workshop in April 1945. He created affordable quality jewellery in modern designs, and the company is one of the largest gold and silver works in Scandinavia. Hermann Siersbol died in a tragic accident in 1964, and the company was taken over by his four children. His son Henrik Siersbol is now the sole owner and runs the company with his daughter Camilla. This delicate necklace measures 39cm long x 1.5cm wide. Weight 30.4g. The clasp has a little Daisy detail. Great vintage condition. Comes with a vintage Danish jewellery box.
