Description

A solid ebony Anglo-Indian window seat, measuring nearly two metres wide. The scale makes it well-suited for a hallway, gallery, or bay window. The bench features eight carved twist legs tied by stretchers, finishing on turned bun feet. The hand-woven cane seating is taut and fully supportive. The piece is in showroom condition. The frame is structurally sound with tight joints, and the cane work is entirely intact. It has been cleaned and wax-polished, retaining its original period patina.
