Description

This is a lovely designed 19th century French oak side table. The legs and lower stretchers have a great amount of detail, making this table hugely decorative. The table is complete with a thick oak drawer that runs smoothly and is lined with hessian. The patina and colour are wonderful. Overall condition is good with no structural issues but there is a split in the top. All part of its character but we can let in a timber piece to this should you prefer.
