Description

A refined and beautifully proportioned Victorian gentleman's armchair, crafted in rich solid mahogany and showcasing exceptional period design. The chair features an elegant moulded exposed show frame, with a warm, deep-toned mahogany that has developed a wonderful aged patina over time. The smooth curves and polished finish highlight the quality of the timber and craftsmanship. The shaped scroll arms are particularly striking, flowing gracefully into the frame and offering both comfort and visual elegance. The serpentine front rail and well-balanced proportions give the chair a distinguished, timeless presence. Raised on finely shaped cabriole legs, the chair terminates in original ceramic castors, allowing for easy movement while adding to its authentic Victorian character. The upholstery is finished in a classic decorative fabric, featuring an elegant pattern that complements the richness of the mahogany frame. The generous seat and supportive backrest make this chair not only visually appealing but also comfortable and practical for everyday use. Key Features: Solid mahogany frame Elegant moulded show wood construction Graceful scroll arms Classic cabriole legs ...
