Description

Late 19th Century, Gilt Framed, Oil on Canvas, 'MARKET DAY - MAYFIELD, SUSSEX' (English). This oil painting captures a snapshot of Market Day in a Sussex village in 1890. Based on further research, and finding the photo that inspired this painting, the fair was held twice a year on May 13th and November 13th. Assessing the leaves on the trees, it's safe to say this snapshot was in May. A considerable amount of research has gone into attempting to confirm who the artist for this artwork is. ??It was meticulously painted by a skilled hand indeed, with intricate details, and titled MARKET DAY - MAYFIELD, SUSSEX" - but, unfortunately, lacks an obvious signature. Upon seeing a photo of the front of the painting, it had been suggested by a Gallery Director in Sussex that this painting was likely by William Christian Symons (1845 - 1911). At this point, it was then revealed to the Gallery that on the rear of the stretcher, is handwritten 'William 8177'. This led to further investigation and after comparing stretchers, canvas types, technique, and similar artworks painted by the artist, including "Blow Bugle, Answer Echo" and "Teatime in the Walled Garden" , it is v...
