Description

An impressive Chinese six-panel folding screen featuring carved soapstone decoration dating from circa 1920s. Each panel has three recessed windows profusely decorated with colourful carved soapstone. The four inner panels are decorated with female figures with trees and the end panels feature scholars objects and vases with cherry blossom and bamboo leaves. The screen is supported by square legs with decorative pierced pelmet. The reverse side is decorated with a scratch carved landscape with mountains, houses and trees. Standing 3ft6" tall the six folding panels fold away completely on brass hinges, so when not required it can be neatly tucked away. Would make a wonderful fire screen or could be hung on a wall as a decorative wall feature. Construction: Wood and soapstone Condition Report: A small section of soapstone missing (see photo) to one panel. Various scuffs and marks commensurate with age. Dimensions: Height: 107cm Open Width: 139cm Closed width: 23cm Depth: 3cm
