Description

A rare early 20th-century Lebus double-width sectional bookcase, complete with its original brass escutcheon stamped "THE LEBUS BOOKCASE." Formed of six glazed lift-up sections arranged in two columns, this example retains its original single-piece gallery top — an unusual feature that indicates it was supplied as a complete wide unit rather than two separate stacks. The bookcase is in excellent order, with all doors running smoothly and retaining their original brass knobs. The timber has a warm, even colour and a well-preserved patina. A scarce and highly practical piece of English library furniture.
