Description

Antique Georgian Small Mahogany Chest of 4 Drawers on bracket feet. An exceptional condition original diminutive Georgian chest of drawers. This George III period solid mahogany chest of drawers, dating to circa 1780, is a refined example of 18th-century cabinetry. At just 855mm wide and 525mm deep, its compact proportions make it ideal for the modern interior, fitting perfectly into an alcove or between a chimney breast and a wall. A particularly thoughtful design feature is the rear overhang of the top, which allows the chest to sit flush against the wall even in rooms with large, traditional skirting boards. The chest is elevated by its original and lovely shaped bracket feet, providing a sturdy yet elegant stance. The solid mahogany possesses a lovely rich colour and has been fully re-polished and waxed in-house at Lincoln Restorations. This finish has been expertly applied to revive the deep glow of the timber while carefully preserving the original patina, age, and character of the wood. The facade is fitted with its original solid brass dropper handles, which is unusual as these are typically replaced over the years. These sit alongside the original keyhole...
