Description

A superb Victorian burr walnut oval breakfast table, combining fine craftsmanship with elegant, practical design. The beautifully figured burr walnut top displays rich colour and striking natural grain patterns, giving the surface a warm and highly decorative appearance. The oval form is both classic and versatile, making it ideal for use as a breakfast, centre, or occasional table. The table features a traditional tilt-top mechanism, allowing the top to be raised and stored upright when not in use—an excellent space-saving feature typical of the period. It is supported on a turned central column leading to a finely carved base, with elegant cabriole legs and terminating in scroll feet. The base is both sturdy and decorative, reflecting the quality and craftsmanship of the Victorian era. In good antique condition, this is a practical yet highly attractive piece, perfect for adding character and functionality to any period interior or antique setting.
