Description

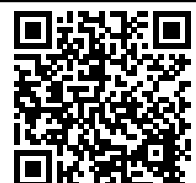

A Nice Antique Edwardian Brass Desk Magnifier Loupe On Tripod Stand, designed to sit on a desk or worktable. This magnifier is made in lacquered brass with a warm, time-softened tone across the surfaces. The glass lens is set into a circular bezel that can screw in and out, allowing the users to control the magnification and giving a practical viewing aperture for close inspection work – circa 1905. * It makes an excellent display piece for a library, study, or curiosity cabinet, with strong visual appeal in brass. Measurements: Height: 1 3/4" (approx. 4.5cm) Diameter: 1 3/4" (approx. 4.5cm) Total weight: 69g In good condition – The brass shows only general surface wear consistent with age and use. The magnifying glass is clear and the screw mechanism is fully functional. This piece is ready for use.
