Description

A charming late 19th century mahogany tea table, made in the Georgian revival style. Elegantly proportioned, the table features a softly rounded fold over top with scissor leg action. Raised on slender tapering legs with fine string inlay detail. The simple, restrained design reflects classic Georgian influences, while the lighter construction makes it particularly practical for modern interiors. The scissor leg action works smoothly. A versatile piece, ideal as a side table, occasional table or for use in smaller dining spaces. The mahogany has a warm, rich tone with a pleasing, gently aged surface. Measurements: Height: 73 cm, Width (closed): 92.5 cm, Depth (closed): 45.5 cm , Depth (open): 95 cm, Condition: Good antique condition with age-related wear. The top shows some variation in colour and light surface marking consistent with use. Structurally sound with a stable and functional opening action.
