Description

A beautiful 19th-century French Vernis Martin vitrine cabinet, exquisitely decorated and presented in the manner of François Linke, one of the most prestigious Parisian ébénistes of the late 19th century. This elegant display cabinet features a shaped breccia marble top, richly toned mahogany frame, hand-painted Vernis Martin panels, and finely cast ormolu mounts. The cabinet is fitted with a single bow-front glazed door, curved glazed side panels, and two internal glass display shelves, all backed by a richly coloured velvet interior that enhances the presentation of decorative objects. Standing on slender cabriole legs with gilt bronze sabots and mounts, this vitrine perfectly captures the refined Rococo revival styling associated with Linke's celebrated workshop.
