Description

A large pine farmhouse dining table dating from the late 19th / early 20th Century. It has a planked overhanging top and stands on bulbous turned legs with castors below. There are two drawers in one side with white ceramic knobs and matching dummy drawers on the opposite side. The top is a lovely warm colour and the legs have a nice patina. It is a good large size, seating 6 comfortably, and a good practical height to sit at with ample leg clearance of 24" (61cm) all the way around. It is in good condition for its age and the table is strong and sturdy. There are signs of use and some old knocks and marks which have all added to the patina but nothing detrimental and no major damages. The drawers open smoothly and are generally clean and tidy. It has been cleaned and has a nice smooth waxed finish and is ready for use. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions just ask.
