Description

Pair of antique late 18th century Georgian period, old Sheffield plate three-light candelabra. Featuring drawn wire, lyre-shaped stems and bat-wing fluting and reeded detail to the oval bases and sconces. Condition: There is some copper bleed and a little more so to one of the bases. A small, discreet historic solder repair has come undone, so the scroll arm, just below the 4-bead detail is not connected, however it isn't obvious and cosmetic only. A few small, minor bends to the stems. Lightly polished. Each has its original reeded drip pan. No maker mark. Measurements: Height: 33.25cm Overall width: 33cm Base: 15.5cm x 11cm Combined weight: 3.2kg
