Description

A good example of a late 19th Century apothecary case with fitted interior, complete with much of its original contents. The case itself is made from leather with a buckled strap. Inside, the case is sectioned to hold the various glass bottles and there are two metal lidded compartments. The whole set is in very good condition for its age. The glass bottles are all in good condition with no major damages. The leather case is clean and tidy inside and it has a lovely aged patina with no major damages. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions just ask. Tracked UK Delivery £8
