Description

A charming early 19th century French farmhouse table, richly patinated and full of authentic country character. The beautifully timeworn top displays wonderful surface texture and signs of honest use, giving the piece a warm, lived-in presence. Designed with lower sides, this table is ideal for use with benches, allowing comfortable leg clearance and a relaxed, informal farmhouse seating arrangement. The table is fitted with a single full-width drawer and stands on elegant cabriole legs, with cleated ends and a shaped, serpentine apron that adds softness and movement to the overall form. A solid and practical piece that works equally well as a kitchen table, centre table or rustic desk. Under apron height 54.5 cm
