Description

A well-proportioned early 1920s countertop display cabinet, crafted in richly toned mahogany with a warm, polished finish. The cabinet is fully glazed to the top and sides, offering excellent visibility from all angles, making it ideal for retail display or collectors. The hinged lid opens to reveal a deep interior lined in red velvet, providing a strong visual contrast and an elegant setting for jewellery, small objects, or curated pieces. The construction is solid and straightforward, with clean mitred joints, a moulded plinth base, and simple brass hinges. The overall form is restrained and practical, reflecting its original use as a working display piece rather than a purely decorative object. A highly usable cabinet, equally suited to a shop setting or domestic interior. H: 24 W: 88 D: 45 cm
