Description

This is a rare magnum beer decanter and stopper dating from the second half of the 18th century, c1770. The decanter is in excellent condition for its age. It shows age related wear and tear to the base consistent with some 250 years of age and use. There is a polished out pontil mark on the underside of the base. The body of the decanter is in clear glass and of sugarloaf form which has been decorated with a faux label for Beer within a cartouche made up of a hop flower and barley ears. The neck is plain. It measures 12.5 cm (5inches) in diameter at its widest point. The stopper is of facet cut lozenge form and is possibly the original. It is an excellent fit. Assembled, the decanter measures 33.5 cm (13.4 inches) in height. There are no chips, cracks, significant scratches or any obvious evidence of restoration. It weighs in at 895 g. (~ 2 lb.).
