Description

An exceptionally beautiful antique silver, agate and citrine bangle. It was probably made in Scotland around 1860. Although unmarked it has tested as silver and has 16 hand cut agates (moss, carnelian and blood stones). The citrine in the middle is beautifully faceted and well set. The case is original and closes tightly, the bangle also has a safety chain attached. It has an internal measurement of 5.8cms. In excellent condition with no damage or repairs. A stunning piece of Victorian jewellery. Weight; 32 grams approx. Free delivery in the UK. Payment by bank transfer, card over the phone, PayPal or Klarna. Using Klarna payments can be split over three months
