Description

A superb and rare H & R Daniel Porcelain Loving Cup c.1830. Very finely decorated with a white panel illustrating a basket containing fruit and flowers including a peach, black currants, red cherries, red currants, damask roses, poppy, auriculas and convolvus all situated on a table and reserved on a green ground. The white panel is surrounded by a complicated frame of gilt bands, gilt scrolls and seeding to the top corners. Gilt and cream straps with gilt seeding across the bottom corners and a much wider gilt band that has a continuous band of raised gilt flowers and leaves to the centre and small raised gilt C-scrolls near to each edge. The reverse of the loving cup is decorated the same but the white panel decorated with just fruit and flowers consisting of peach, red cherries, black currants, blue convolvulus, poppy, auriculas and damask rose. Painted directly onto the green ground under the wide gilt band and between the handles are a series of pink roses and leaves. Unmarked. Condition: A couple of small hairline cracks to the body and across the base of one handle.
