Description

A fine and original example of a very beautiful English Dial clock. The 8 day duration, gut fusee movement with Anchor Recoil escapement and tapered plates also, the usual stopwork to the fusee winding. Fixed to an unusually separate, convex wooden dial by a false plate. The dial having its crazed, original cream coloured background with an outer, divided minute track encircling Roman hour numerals. The upper dial centre bears the maker's name of "WOOD. Golden Squ(a)r(e)" and below centre: "LONDON". The blackened and matching 'spade' style steel hands have a counterpoise extension to the minute which is a lovely and unusual but highly practical feature. Behind a hinged and locking, cast brass, 'Sheraton' style bezel with a high domed convex glass. Contained in a fine, Cuban mahogany case. The narrow, one-piece dial surround has a well moulded edge and is pegged onto the back box which has a hinged and toggled side access door and a curved, hinged and toggled, cockbeaded pendulum regulation door that is set within the curved bottom. * A dial clock signed Wood, Golden Square LONDON likely refers to the workshop of Robert Wood, who was active in London during the late 1...
