Description

This rare and decorative large glass vase was produced in Bohemia circa 1920. It is hand blown in apple green glass, skilfully filled with controlled air bubbles, uniquely adding to its appearance. The most impressive part of this eye catching piece is the continual finely hand painted enamelled landscape view of a fox hunting scene which runs around the vase's circumference with multiple images of colourful riders in traditional fox hunting attire riding on horses most of which are in full gallop in pursuit of the allusive fox surrounded by groups of running hounds crossing rivers and meadows and one unlucky rider and horse has fallen jumping over a stream. This most unusual bulbous shaped vase is in perfect condition. Circa 1920 Height 22cm x width 20cm x depth 20cm
