Description

Early 18th Century Georgian Oak Side Table with Drawer A fine early 18th century oak side table, constructed in solid oak throughout. The oblong plank top has a semi-rounded edge above a frieze fitted with a full-width drawer, set with period-style twin brass drop handles and a scalloped apron below. The table is raised on well-turned ring supports with block sections on compressed feet, united by plain stretchers. Peg-jointed construction throughout. A good early Georgian country table with pleasing proportions and an attractive warm patina. Carefully serviced, cleaned and waxed in our workshop, and now very much ready for use. A full set of additional images is available on request. Dimensions (approximate): Height: 76 cm (30") Width: 68.5 cm (27") Depth: 52 cm (20.5") Condition: Good condition, commensurate with age. Structurally sound with no loose joints. Minor marks and blemishes consistent with age and use. Handles are later replacements in a period-appropriate style. Warm colour and patina with an excellent wax finish. A handsome early Georgian oak table, ideal as a hall, lamp, or side table, with great character and usability.
