Description

Vintage 1950s Ruby & Diamond Cluster Ring 18ct Gold & Platinum with Gemmological Report. A particularly elegant and beautifully proportioned vintage ruby and diamond cluster ring, crafted in 18ct yellow gold with a platinum setting and dating from the 1950s. At the centre of the design sits a vivid natural ruby of exceptional rich red colour, displaying wonderful life and depth. The ruby is surrounded by a halo of ten sparkling natural diamonds, creating a timeless floral cluster that sits beautifully upon the finger. The platinum setting is finished with delicate millegrain edging, adding refinement and vintage charm to the piece. Viewed from the side, the attractive open gallery work demonstrates the quality of the craftsmanship and gives the ring a wonderfully graceful profile. This ring is accompanied by a Birmingham Assay Office Gemmological Report confirming the ruby to be a natural Mozambique ruby with no evidence of treatment – an increasingly desirable feature in fine vintage jewellery. Elegant, feminine and timeless, this beautiful ring would make a wonderful engagement ring or an exceptional addition to a fine jewellery collection. Gemmological Report Ruby...
