Description

This rare and beautiful piece of George II English furniture is a lowboy veneered in richly figured burr elm. It stands on cabriole legs with pointed pad feet. It has three drawers, the top one is a full width drawer with a pair of short ones below all veneered in finely figured burr elm with fruitwood stringing each fitted with original locks and handles. The drawers are constructed with all original pine linings which are in good condition. The top is beautifully veneered in matching burr elm with fruitwood stringing and is finished in a plain quadrant short grained moulding around its edge. The sides and legs appear to be made from solid walnut. This fine English lowboy is in very good original condition and has a lovely rich colour and age related patina. English, circa 1750 Height 71cm x width 80cm x depth 49cm
