Description

Johannes Hubertus Leonardus de Haas (Dutch, 1832-1908), a mid 19th oil painting on canvas of a peasant with an ox drawing a plough in a field near a pond, with ducks, cattle and dogs nearby, and with a village in the distance and woods beyond under a noonday sky, signed lower right J H L de Haas ft 59, in an ornate giltwood frame. Sight 17½" x 27" Condition: Excellent, the painting is in very good condition having been relined and cleaned in the recent past, the colours are vibrant and the frame is in excellent condition, Overall the painting has a charming appearance. Johannes Hubertus Leonardus de Haas (25th March 1832 - 4th August 1908) was born in Hedel (Gelderland) and spent his youth in Amsterdam where he received his earliest education in painting at evening classes at the Koninklijke Academie, thereafter going to Haarlem where he was apprenticed to the painter Pieter Frederik Van Os. In 1853 he and two friends who had studied with Van Os moved to Oosterbeek, where they met Johannes Warnardus Bilders, an influential landscape painter, who established a group of painters around him later known as the Hague School. It was here that de Haas met his future wife, Bild...
