Description

A characterful vintage travel trunk in good overall condition, featuring its original fittings and classic black exterior. This solid and practical piece dates from the early 20th century and would have originally been used for long-distance travel. The trunk is finished in black with reinforced edges, metal straps and original brass-toned locks and clasps. Inside, it retains its original light fabric lining, which remains clean and structurally sound, showing only age-related wear consistent with use. This piece works beautifully as a statement storage trunk, coffee table, or decorative interior feature, particularly suited to industrial, vintage, or eclectic interiors. Good vintage condition. There are visible signs of age and use, including surface scuffs, scratches, patina to the metal fittings, and small marks to the exterior and interior lining. These details are clearly visible in the photographs and add to the authentic vintage character. The structure is solid and the trunk opens and closes well.
