Description

A very grand and unusual Victorian Ink stand with separable inkwell. Unusual in its design and in that it has pen rests on all four sides. With pen rests on all four sides it suggests that it may stood on a central table accessed from all sides for important signings. It would equally be fine on a grand desk. Well made from solid brass it has engraved and cast detail with original button feet which have beaded decoration. The separable circular baize based inkwell has a ball shaped sprung lid which rotates back to reveal the original removeable glass ink resevoir. The lid has a sliver steel catch. The stand measures 22.5cm by 25.5cm and is about 2.5cm high. The inkwell base is 14cm in diameter and is about 9cm tall Together the whole is about 11.5 cm high. FREE postae to mainland UK Overseas buyers please ask for shipping costs before purchasing.
