Description

An Exceptional Georgian Walnut & Mahogany Bachelor's Chest of Drawers Circa 1760 Rarely does a piece of this extraordinary caliber and untouched elegance come to the open market. This magnificent Georgian bachelor's chest represents the absolute pinnacle of 18th-century cabinetmaking, boasting some of the finest, most dramatic cuts of book-matched timber imaginable. It is an investment-grade statement piece designed for the discerning collector. Timber & Craftsmanship The chest is a masterclass in contrasting tones and textures. The top features a breathtaking expanse of deeply figured, vibrant mahogany, framed by an exquisite, wide cross-banding of select walnut. The striking grain continues seamlessly across the drawer fronts, showcasing a rich, warm patina and a complex, highly decorative feathering that catches the light beautifully. Fine Details & Configuration Drawer Arrangement: A classic, highly functional configuration of two short over three long graduated drawers. Hardware: The drawers are elegantly dressed with their original, exceptionally cast solid brass swan-neck handles and refined oval escutcheons. The Brush Slide: Essential to the classic "bac...
