Description

Exquisite Early Victorian Mahogany Bow-Fronted Chest of Drawers (c. 1840-1860) A classic and elegant addition to any interior, this stunning mahogany bow-fronted chest of drawers dates from the mid-19th century. Balancing the refined proportions of the Regency period with the robust quality of the early Victorian era, this piece is as functional as it is beautiful. Key Features: Superior Construction: Crafted from rich, warm mahogany with a striking grain pattern across the expansive bow-front surface. Classic Configuration: Features a traditional "two-over-three" layout, consisting of two smaller top drawers over three full-width graduated drawers, providing ample and varied storage. Exceptional Hardware: Adorned with a full set of fabulous Regency-style brass knobs. These heavy, ornate pulls feature a detailed floral/sunburst motif that adds a sophisticated glint to the deep wood tones. Elegant Profile: The graceful bow-front curve is complemented by a simple moulded top and sits proudly on its original turned "bun" feet. Timeless Detail: Delicate boxwood stringing or cross-banding (common for this era) frames the drawer fronts, highlighting the curve of the che...
