Description

Exceptional antique Victorian burr walnut credenza cabinet dating from the 19th century, beautifully crafted with striking figured walnut veneers, ebonised detailing, and elegant Sevres porcelain plaques. This impressive antique sideboard features a central cupboard door decorated with a hand-painted porcelain panel, flanked by curved glazed display cabinets with fitted interior shelving. The shaped top, turned columns, gilt metal mounts, and refined inlaid decoration showcase the high level of craftsmanship associated with fine Victorian furniture. The warm burr walnut veneers display outstanding natural figuring throughout, giving the piece exceptional depth and character. Offering both decorative appeal and practical storage, this antique credenza is ideal for use as a sideboard, display cabinet, or statement piece in a dining room, hallway, or living space. A superb example of 19th century English furniture combining elegance, craftsmanship, and timeless decorative presence. Height: 106cm Width: 168cm Depth: 43cm
